

List of Contributors

Muchkund Dubey is former Foreign Secretary, Government of India. Presently he is the President of Council for Social Development, New Delhi, Chairman of Asian Development Research Institute, Patna and the Deputy Chairman of the Planning Commission of Sikkim. He has written a large number of articles, papers and chapters of books on international trade, international security and disarmament matters and on international development cooperation and international economic relations.

Rupa Chanda is a Professor in the Economics and Social Sciences Area at the Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore. Previously, she worked as an Economist at the International Monetary Fund. She received a doctorate degree (Ph.D) in Economics from Columbia University, United States of America. She has published extensively in many national and international journals and chapters in books and has also authored a book. She has done research projects and commissioned studies for several Indian and multilateral institutions, including ICRIER, OECD, WHO, ILO, UNCTAD, and UNDP. Dr. Chanda is also a member of the Expert Group of Services of Ministry of Commerce, Government of India.

Rajesh Mehta is a Senior Fellow at the Research and Information System for Developing Countries (RIS). Previously, he was Adjunct Professor in the Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations. He has also served on the faculty of University of Western Ontario, Institute of Economic Growth and Jawaharlal Nehru University. He received a doctorate degree (Ph.D) in economics from the Delhi School of Economics, India. He has been consultant to various national and international organisations including Government of India, APDC, ESCAP, World Bank, FAO, UN, etc. He has published extensively on trade and development, regional trading blocs, trade policies of South Asian countries, WTO-related issues, tariff and non-tariff barriers, etc.

Saman Kelegama is the Executive Director of the Institute of Policy Studies, Colombo. He is the editor of the South Asia Economic Journal and serves in the editorial boards of number of other journals. He received a doctorate degree (D.Phil.) in Economics from University of Oxford, England. He was the President of the Sri Lanka Economic Association during 1999-2003. He has published extensively on Sri Lankan economic issues in both national and international journals and delivered many lectures on the subject in both domestic and international fora. He serves (and had served) as a Governing Board Director in an advisory capacity in a number of government institutions.

Indra Nath Mukherji is a Professor of South Asian Studies at School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University; New Delhi. His teaching and research interest concerns international trade and development issues, particularly focusing on the South Asian region. He has served as Chairman, Centre for South, Central, Southeast Asian and Southwest Pacific Studies in the School of International Studies and was also the Dean of School of International Studies. He has authored two books and co-authored and edited several others. He has to his credit more than 80 articles published as chapters in books and as research articles in journals in India and abroad.

Gopal Naik is a Professor in the Economics and Social Sciences Area at the Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore. Previously, he taught at the Centre for Management in Agriculture, Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad and was also the Chairman of the Centre for three years. He has also worked at the World Bank and University of Illinois for short periods and was consultant to organisations such as Ford Foundation, WHO, FAO, World Bank, NAFED etc. He received a doctorate degree (Ph.D) from University of Illinois, United States of America. He has authored five books and published extensively in national and international refereed journals on WTO and agriculture, risk management in agriculture, agriculture technology adoption and forecasting methods.

Ratnakar Adhikari is Programme Specialist on Textile and Clothing at the UNDP-Asia Pacific Regional Centre, Colombo. Previously, he was the Executive Director of South Asia Watch on Trade, Economics and Environment (SAWTEE), Kathmandu. He has had seven years of banking experience and six years of teaching experience. Mr. Adhikari received master's degree in International Law and Economics from the World Trade Institute, Switzerland. He has served on the board of various national and international NGOs and also as a consultant to UNDP and UNCTAD. He has published extensively on trade, development and competition related issues.

Mohammed Saqib is a fellow at Rajiv Gandhi Institute for Contemporary Studies, Rajiv Gandhi foundation, New Delhi. He works on WTO, Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) and economic policy issues. He has been a consultant to many national and international organisations such as the World Bank, UNCTAD, EU, and WWF and to various Ministries of Government of India. He has published a number of books and contributed to numerous refereed national and international journals.

Nitya Nanda is a Professional Economist. Mr. Nanda received Master's degree in Economics from Jawahar Lal Nehru University, India. He is working on international trade, investment and competition policy issues. He has about nine years of experience in research and teaching on these matters and some other related issues. He has published several articles and papers on these issues in professional and refereed journals and edited volumes. He has been involved with several national and international research and advocacy projects including as the lead researcher.

Ravindra Pratap is an Assistant Professor in School of Law at Indraprastha University, Delhi. He received a doctorate degree in Law from the Jawahar Lal Nehru University, India. He teaches international trade law, international law, international humanitarian law, intellectual property law and interpretation of statutes. His future research is on Dispute Settlement Undertaking (DSU) review negotiations, economic sanctions, UN reforms, and WTO IPR litigation.

Huma Fakhra is a Partner in Fakhra Law International, Islamabad. Previously, she was working with Clifford Chance Law Firm in London in the World Trade Group. Ms. Fakhra received Master's degree in WTO laws from University of Cambridge. Ms. Fakhra has worked on various Dispute Settlement Panels at the WTO. She is also Legal Consultant to International Trade Centre (ITC) on Trade Remedy Laws. She specialises in Trade Remedy Laws concentrating on Textiles, Agriculture, Automotives and Information Technology.

Pooja Agarwal is a Research Assistant at the Research and Information System for Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries (RIS). Ms. Agarwal received master's degree in Economics from Delhi School of Economics. She has been primarily working on market access of non-agricultural and agricultural products in context of ongoing WTO negotiations, regional trading arrangements and food safety regulations. At present she is engaged in the study of implications of the WTO Tariff Proposals on Indian Paper and Newsprint Industry.

KM Gopakumar is a Research Officer at Centre for Trade and Development (Centad). Previously, he was working with Lawyer's Collective (Affordable Medicines and Treatment Campaign). He received LL.M from University of Lund, Sweden and University of Mysore, India and M.Phil from Jawahar Lal Nehru University, India. He has published extensively on intellectual property rights and public health.

Bilesha Weeraratne is a Research Officer at the Institute of Policy Studies of Sri Lanka. She received Master's degree in Economics from the University of Colombo, Sri Lanka. Her research interests and publications are in International Trade, specialising in textile and apparel trade and Generalized System of Preferences.